Online survey

[Introduction module]

[SHOW ALL]
The aim of the survey is to help the Food Standards Agency (FSA) and Food Standards Scotland (FSS) understand undergraduate student's attitudes and behaviour relating to food, including cooking, preparing, and storing food in shared kitchens. The findings will be used to inform policy decision-making and communication campaigns by identifying areas where action or further research is required.

We will ask you a series of questions about yourself, and your knowledge, attitudes, and behaviours about a range of food related topics. In addition, you have the option to send us a photo of your sink and the inside of your fridge.

As we are interested in your experiences of shared kitchens, please consider your term-time residence when completing the survey.
The survey should take less than 20 minutes to complete.
You can complete the survey on a desktop, laptop, smartphone or tablet.
You will receive XXX points for competing the survey, and an additional XXX points for providing a photo of the inside of your fridge and an additional XXX points for a photo of your sink.
