

Aldi recalls Primula Spicy Cheese N Jalapeno because of poor temperature control

Aldi is recalling Primula Spicy Cheese N Jalapeno because of a temperature control issue that could potentially spoil the product, which may be unsafe to eat. The issue only affects products sold at a limited number of Aldi stores in the Midlands area.

Product details

| Primula Spicy Cheese N Jalapeno Variant | |
|---|------------------|
| Pack size | 140g |
| Use by | 07 February 2023 |

Risk statement

Insufficient temperature control may result in spoilage of the product which may be unsafe to eat.

Action taken by the company

Aldi is recalling the above product from affected stores only. Point of sale notices will only be displayed in affected Aldi stores that are selling this product. These notices explain to customers why the product is being recalled and tells them what to do if they have bought the product. Please see the attached notice.

PDF

View Customer Notice: Aldi Primula Spicy Cheese N Jalapeno as pdf\(Open in a new window\)
(71.19 KB)

Our advice to consumers

If you have bought the above product do not eat it. Instead, return it to the Aldi store from where it was bought for a full refund. A full list of affected stores is available on the Aldi website at www.aldi.co.uk/products-notices

About product recalls and withdrawals

If there is a problem with a food product that means it should not be sold, then it might be 'withdrawn' (taken off the shelves) or 'recalled' (when customers are asked to return the product).

The FSA issues Product Withdrawal Information Notices and Product Recall Information Notices to let consumers and local authorities know about problems associated with food. In some cases, a 'Food Alert for Action' is issued. This provides local authorities with details of specific action to be taken on behalf of consumers.

Ref: FSA-PRIN-43-2022

Subscribe to news and alerts