Details of call for evidence

The Food Standards Agency and Food Standards Scotland (FSA and FSS) seek stakeholder views on whether and to what extent provisions in the Comprehensive and Progressive Trans-Pacific Partnership \(CPTPP\) that relate to trade in agricultural products may affect the maintenance of UK statutory protections for human health, in line with FSA and FSS remit which covers food safety and nutrition.

Please note that, in accordance with the commissioning letter from the Secretary of State for Business and Trade to the FSA and FSS, submissions should not address animal or plant life or health; animal welfare; and environmental protections as these areas will be assessed by the Trade and Agriculture Commission.
