

Eat Real recalls several Eat Real and Organic Mamia snack products because of undeclared milk

Eat Real is recalling Eat Real Puff products, Mamia Organic Carrot Puffs and Mamia Organic Tomato Wheels because they may contain milk which is not mentioned on the label. This means the product is a possible health risk for anyone with an allergy or intolerance to milk or milk constituents.

Allergen(s): Milk

These products may contain milk making it a possible health risk for anyone with an allergy or intolerance to milk or milk constituents.

Action taken by the company

Eat Real is recalling the above products from customers and has been advised to contact the relevant allergy support organisations, which will tell their members about the recall. The company has also issued a point-of-sale notice to its customers. These notices explain to customers why the products are being recalled and tell them what to do if they have bought the products. Please see the attached notices from Eat Real and Aldi.

Our advice to consumers

If you have bought any of the above products and have an allergy or intolerance to milk or milk constituents, do not eat them. Instead return the product to the store from where it was bought for a full refund.

About allergy alerts

Sometimes there will be a problem with a food product that means it should not be sold. Then it might be 'withdrawn' (taken off the shelves) or 'recalled' (when customers are asked to return the product). Sometimes foods have to be withdrawn or recalled if there is a risk to consumers because the allergy labelling is missing or incorrect or if there is any other food allergy risk. When there is a food allergy risk, the FSA will issue an Allergy Alert.
