Official Controls Regulation

2.2 On 9 July, the FSA in Wales launched a consultation seeking stakeholders views on the implementation of the Official Controls Regulation in relation to the FSA's areas of responsibility for food and feed law and animal health and welfare in Wales. The Official Controls Regulation (EU) 2017/625 (OCR) applies from 14 December 2019 and will be directly applicable in Wales if, on 14 December 2019, the UK:

- remains in the EU

- or has agreed an implementation/transitional period with the EU.

The consultation closed on 9 October and a summary of responses received will be published by February 2020.

UK FHRs Focus Group

2.3 The FSA has reinstated the UK FHRs Focus Group to provide a forum to discuss the ongoing implementation and operation of FHRs matters that relate to England, Wales and Northern Ireland. The first meeting took place on 17 October. There is representation from the FSA in Wales on the group.

EU Exit

2.4 FSA planning has been on a no deal basis and the overall FSA EU exit work programme was delivered in time for 31st March.

Legislation

Regarding legislation, all pre-exit Statutory Instruments (SIs) have been made both at the UK level, and for the Welsh domestic regulations. These are ready to come into force on exit day. One further FSA wash up SI and two Defra SIs are to be made post exit.

Imports

There will be no changes to checks on high risk imported food on day one. High risk food from third countries will still be checked. There will be no additional checks on high risk from EU on day one (and won't be any until the risk changes).

We have improved our surveillance arrangements and will introduce a requirement for prenotification of high-risk food imports from the EU. (Defra are the lead for the Traces replacement IPAFFS, which the FSA are actively contributing to).

All local authorities in Wales have been offered imports training to refresh their knowledge should checks be needed, and we have an Imports Delivery Manager based in Holyhead should the Port Health Authority there (or at any other ports) need additional support.

Emergency response

The FSA stood up its emergency response for EU Exit on 2 September and will manage and coordinate the Agency's response via its established Non-Routine Incident Management Plan (IMP). A Briefing Cell was set up from 30 September and is designed to be scalable depending on business need.

Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) Festival of Social Science

2.5 On Monday 4 November the FSA will hold its annual Symposium for Social Science in Cardiff. The event is part of the ESCR Festival of Social Science. The focus for the event this year will be on innovation and the changing world, whether that be social, technological or methodological, and some of the work underway to better understand the future implications for food and food regulation. It will offer an excellent opportunity for anyone in the social science or policy making community to hear about how social science directly informs real life policy making in a government context. As well as learning about the work and priorities of the FSA, funding opportunities and emerging ideas, it is also a networking opportunity to put people in touch with experts from academia, industry and policy.
